

Bike rides and rambles in the Howardian Hills

Nestled between the historic city of York and the heather moorlands of the North York Moors National Park the rolling wooded hills, picturesque river valleys and historic estates of the Howardian Hills together create a unique landscape perfect for exploring on foot or by bike.

For walkers the area boasts a dense network of footpaths and bridleways just waiting to be discovered. Light-dappled woodland and plantation trails offer shade on sunny days and meandering riverbank footpaths give unique perspectives of the region's rich built and natural heritage. Farmland paths open out to reveal extraordinary views of priories, monuments, lakes and landscapes.

This designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty also offers fantastic on- and off-road cycling. Road routes can be planned to challenge the experienced rider or be suitable for complete beginners. Mountain bikers can enjoy whole-day rides with only short linking road sections. Whilst long climbs are rare there are plenty of short, challenging ascents.

And when it's time to take a break and refuel, there's always an excellent pub, café or teashop nearby offering delicious food and drink and the very warmest Yorkshire hospitality.

Maps and details of a range of walking and cycling routes can be downloaded from the Howardian Hills AONB website at www.howardianhills.org.uk. Information about places to eat, public transport connections, local events and where to stay are also available.

The Yorkshire Arboretum

The Yorkshire Arboretum is a glorious, 120 acre garden of trees from around the world set in a stunning landscape of parkland, lakes and ponds. New trees are planted each year and the grounds enhanced by wildflower meadows and large numbers of spring- and early summer-flowering bulbs.

Lovers of nature and the outdoors can explore at leisure, follow a trail or perhaps join a guided tour. There are also family explorer activities, a gift shop, a woodland playground and an extensive events programme to ensure that there's something for all to enjoy, whenever you visit.

The Arboretum Café enjoys a fantastic reputation for its delicious menu of home-made treats featuring locally sourced, seasonal produce. It's the perfect end to an arboretum walk or a welcome stop-off point on a longer walk or ride.

Towns of the Howardian Hills

Malton is a charming market town with eclectic shopping and a growing reputation as a foodie destination thanks to its award-winning monthly Food Market, annual Food Lovers' Festival, and some of the best food shops in Yorkshire. Malton and adjoining Norton provide a fantastic base for outdoor enthusiasts with excellent day rides and walks on back-roads and country lanes, many accessible by train from Malton station.

Helmisley, one of Yorkshire's most popular market towns, boasts historic architecture, a wide range of independent shops and an excellent selection of accommodation, pubs, cafés and restaurants. The square is home to a busy street market every Friday, and is the start point of both the Cleveland Way National Trail and the Ebor Way. Helmsley is an excellent day ride destination or overnight base for exploring further afield.
